In Charlie's Chocolate Factory this week we have been writing instructions. Aurelia has written a set of instructions for how to brew Polyjuice Potion.

This week's MUSIC TO LISTEN TO:

We are going to be looking at music played at the coronation of the queen at Westminster Abbey, 2 June 1953. This week it is March Crown Imperial by William Walton.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7WMrQe87gRk>

It was commissioned for the coronation of King George VI in Westminster Abbey in 1937. It was also played at the wedding of Prince William in 2011.

Sir William Walton was born in Oldham, Lancashire in 1902, the son of a choirmaster and a singing-teacher. He taught himself composition of music, with some help from fellow musicians.

Farthing Wood have started looking at Pompeii in their writing and Expert History. They acted out a scene from the town of Pompeii.

Children in Tarzan's Jungle have been learning about the weather and were completing an activity where they packed a suitcase for Antarctica and one for Africa. The children have been matching different types of weather with the seasons and learning about the weather in the UK.

This week's BOOK RECOMMENDATION:

This week I am going to stray from children's books to recommending a book for the grown-ups. I read 'The Midnight Library' by Matt Haig during the break and loved it. It is a book which made me really think about the gift of life.

Between life and death there is a library, and within that library, the shelves go on forever. Every book provides a chance to try another life you could have lived. To see how things would be if you had made other choices . . . Would you have done anything different, if you had the chance to undo your regrets?

Top tip for Online Safety:

Too much screen time can negatively impact physical and psychological wellbeing, including increased risk of obesity from lack of exercise and heightened anxiety from social media activities.

What do you think?

If you say sorry but don't mean it, but the person you say it to thinks that you do, does it count?

SORRY!

What's going on in the world this week?

This week saw the presidential election in France. People in France are getting used to the idea of President Macron staying in charge after he won the election last weekend. However, not everyone supported him and, although he had the biggest share of the vote, lots of people either didn't vote for him or didn't vote at all.

Newsround asked some children in Paris what they would put on President Macron's to-do list to help bring the country together.

Top tip for Healthy Lifestyle!

Remember to have a good breakfast.

A nutritious breakfast sets you up with energy for the day, can help you hit your 5-a-day, and can be an easy way to get fibre into your diet.
